Not led his life as finners do,
not fite in feorners chaire.
But in the law of God the Lord,
doth fet his whole delight;
id in that law doth exercise,
himselfe both day and night.

He shall be like the tree that groweth, tast by the waters side:
hich bringeth forth most pleasant ruit, in her due time and tides hose lease shall never fade nor fall, but south till and stand:
on so all things shall prosper well, that this man takes in hand, o shall not the vingodly men, they shall be nothing so: as the dust which from the earth, the wind drives to and fro. Therefore shall not the wicked men, in sudgement stand spright: yet the sinuers with the inst
